Bridging the Gap

Carol Fontana

Carol Fontana first played golf at age 11 with her father at Dyker Beach in Brooklyn, but soon put her clubs away for several years due to the lack of organized junior golf programs at the course. She began playing more seriously twenty years ago, and eventually worked her Handicap Index down to between 1 and 2. Power is her big advantage: She routinely belts her drives 240 to 250 yards. That's long, but still not long enough to carry the Narrows. So Carol takes the bridge between her two clubs, the Women's Division of South Shore on Staten Island and the Brookridge Women's Golf Club at Dyker Beach. Fortunately for her, Brookridge held its championship on Saturdays and South Shore on Sundays, so she didn't have to battle the weekday traffic on the Verrazano to win both titles.

The MGA sent out championship forms to all member clubs. Please write to letters@mgagolf.org if your club champions are not listed.

The roster of 2006 club champions reads like a who's who of Met Area golf

BY DR. BILL QUIRIN

Jay Blumenfeld

Roger Hoit

Ron Vannelli

Jersey Boys

Jay Blumenfeld, Roger Hoit, Ron Vannelli, Michael Deo, Allan Small

Each of these five standout New Jersey amateurs has a long list of tournament credentials, which certainly helped them win championships at their respective clubs. Three of the five (Blumenfeld, Hoit and Small) earned placement on the 2006 MGA Honor Roll, which recognizes the top 10 finishers in MGA Player of the Year points.

Jay Blumenfeld of Mountain Ridge Country Club had a terrific season and was this year's NJSGA Player of the Year. He won his 15th championship at Mountain Ridge, and also had a strong showing in the British Mid-Amateur and at the MGA Senior Open at Nassau.

Roger Hoit is the 2006 Ike champion and was a semi-finalist in this year's Met Amateur, played at his home club, Baltusrol. The 43-year-old won his fifth club championship at the storied venue in Springfield, an accomplishment made even more impressive because Hoit came to competitive golf fairly late in life. His rise to prominence was foreshadowed in 2004 when he reached match play in both the U.S. Amateur and Mid-Amateur.

Ron Vannelli again dominated play at the club championship at Metuchen Golf & Country Club, and the 58-year-old is enjoying a renaissance on the golf course. He was the Jerry Courville Sr. MGA Player of the Year in 2005, a season during which he won the Met Amateur and tied for second in the MGA Senior Open. This year Ron tied for 6th in the Ike Championship and qualified for the U.S. Mid-Amateur, and also competed in the French-American Matches in October.

Michael Deo, the youngest of the group, won the 2005 New York City Amateur and represented the MGA in France at the French-American Matches in October. Though he only joined Montclair Golf Club last year, has already garnered a place on the club championship plaque.

Allan Small, in contrast, has his name plastered all over the walls at Fairmount Country Club. The MGA's newly elected Vice President won his 13th club championship in a season that saw him win the New Jersey Mid-Amateur in May (20 years after his last win in the Mid-Am, in 1986) and the Hochster Memorial at Quaker Ridge Golf Club. Small also represented his club and the MGA well in national events, playing in this year's U.S. Senior Open and winning a match at the 2006 U.S. Senior Amateur.

East Ender

Jimmy Dunne

How's this for a record that many Met golfers would want? Jimmy Dunne played in three club championships this year, all in Southampton, and won two of them. He lost in the first round at Shinnecock Hills, but defeated George Zahringer with a birdie on the first extra hole at the National Golf Links of America. However, his real thrill came at Sebonack, where he became that club's first champion. Playing in windy conditions over a hard and fast course he called "in fantastic condition," one totally unlike its two neighbors, Dunne played the 36-holes in 74-79 to beat a relatively small field. He termed the challenge of avoiding the many stern hazards at Sebonack in stroke-play competition a "thrilling competition with himself." Jimmy's no stranger to the winner's circle, having won at both National and Garden City Golf Club in 1997.

The Kids are Alright

Tommy McDonagh and Ellie Deluca

Connecticut's Shorehaven Golf Club, in East Norwalk, has seen its share of dynasties in past club championships, most recently with the unparalleled success of Jerry Courville Sr. and Jr. Nowadays, the club is known for a youth movement that just might predict a future dynasty. In fact, Shorehaven established a new record this year: lowest total age of men's and women's club champions. Tommy McDonagh (bottom), well known to our readers as the youngest-ever Met Amateur winner when he captured the event this summer at age 17, won his first men's championship. Not to be outdone, 15-year-old Ellie Deluca (far left) took the women's championship and the junior girls title. Both impressive youngsters started their golf careers in the club's junior clinic at age 10, and were helped along in their golf development by assistant pro Michael Laganza (left), whom they still rely on for guidance.

Saint Andrew's Royalty

Murray and Sheila Stoltz

It's obvious that marriage has been very beneficial to the golf games of Murray and Sheila Stoltz. They tied the knot six years ago, and since then they've been a tough act to beat at Saint Andrew's. Murray has actually won the men's title nine of the last ten years, while Sheila has three wins in the last six years. Sheila had a 2-up lead with three holes to go in her final match and stumbled a bit, but won on the 19th hole. Murray, who carries a course handicap of 1 at Saint Andrew's, finished his final match first and was on hand to witness Sheila's nail-biting victory. Now he just has to find a way to beat her in head-to-head competition: Sheila, who carries a home course handicap of 8, demands strokes from her husband, and Murray is quite generous.

Power Couple

Doug and Sheila Vergith

Doug and Sheila Vergith have been friends since age 12, growing up south of Buffalo in Western New York's Chautauqua County. In fact, Doug taught Sheila how to hit a golf ball while they were kids. They later married, and won their first club championships together at Mohawk Golf Club in Schenectady before moving to Long Island. Both are active with the NYSGA Tournament Committee, and Doug also has served on the LIGA Board and was recently elected to the MGA Executive Committee. At St. George's Golf Club, Sheila has won the ladies championship nine consecutive years, and Doug, the 2004 MGA Senior Amateur champion, has won the men's title seven times in the last eleven years. This year marks the sixth time they have won in the same year at St. George's.
